Section B: Summary

[10 marks]

Read the passage and complete the following task.

Examinations have become part and parcel of every student's life. Sometimes you find that your motivation to study is slipping away. That is why some people prefer to study in groups which is more of a means to hang out with friends while getting some information about their studies.

How can you make the most of your study group? Select people who share the same motivation to study will make studying more interesting. You will also feel that your group members are a source of encouragement. Students have different styles of studying; some are effective and some are not. As such, you can learn valuable new study habits from the other group members. Target the topics to be covered within the time that you have before the exam. Do not forget to share information with your group members.

Studying is never solid without written notes. You can compare your notes with those of the other group members. So, make sure you jot down important points while you study. Besides, explaining concepts to the other group members will help you understand them better. Let's face it - studying can sometimes be boring. Interacting with the other group members not only makes studying enjoyable but also helps to foster a better relationship.

Write a summary on why studying in a group is beneficial.

Your summary must:

- not be more than 60 words, including the 10 words given below
- be in continuous writing (not note form)
- be written in one paragraph

Use your own words as far as possible without changing its original meaning.

Begin your summary as follows:

Studying in a group is beneficial because group members are
